As my nature is quite lazy I joined this introductory course of LaTeX at ETH¹ although there is actually the complete manual online available². However, since Tobias Oetiker is teaching this course I was interested joining it and getting some special hints about L^AT_EX. The basic things I learned were:

1. Writing special characters like Anaïs (new-born daughter of Markus Meury)
2. Pages from–to and Gedankenstriche—
3. Links to LaTeX front ends, like the one for Windows:
<http://www.texniccenter.org/>
 - (a) And also sublistings
 - (b) like this
 - (c) one
